There is nothing like the real thing

Making the future of paper since 1872

For over 150 years, we have been making paper: bringing value to our customers and society as a unique medium of inspiration, learning and trust. Over generations and changing times, we have grown into a network of mills with a global reach, the widest offering and largest production capacity, to ensure a reliable supply of paper for all our customers' needs.

A global partner for all graphic paper needs and business performance

We are committed to bringing our long experience, with our extensive technical and business expertise, to our every customer's benefit – to ensure and enable their long-term success.

Driving the value of paper together

Paper is a unique medium of inspiration, learning and trust – because it's real. In a digitalizing world, the role and value of paper can only be driven forward together with our whole industry: our customers, our partners and everyone, everywhere and anytime, who is about to turn a page and get inspired, educated or informed.

Supporting and delivering responsibly, at scale

Reliability and responsibility are at the core of everything we do, throughout our global supply chain. Creating and delivering sustainable printing paper solutions for all customer needs is our daily objective, without compromise.
